Other work includes his scores for "Salem Falls" (Lifetime), "The Devil's Teardrop" (Lifetime/Sony), and "Valemont" (MTV).

Gary is comfortable creating big orchestral scores with both live musicians and contemporary music technology, as well as intimate song-based music. For the film "Spirit Bear: The Simon Jackson Story" (CBC) Gary created the large-scale sound of the original score which earned him a Gemini nomination for Best Original Music Score for a Program or Mini-Series in 2007. Some of his more traditional, "big Hollywood-type" scores such as for the feature films "Left Behind II" and "Judgment", were written for live orchestral performance, using between 45 and 60 musicians. Gary is also capable of writing, recording and performing vocals for the productions he works on.

From his early studies of piano and guitar, Gary moved on to advanced studies under the tutelage of Roman Toi at the Royal Conservatory of Music. Having also picked up a Recording Engineer Certificate at the Trebas Institute for the Recording Arts, Gary provides the complete range of services required to produce a top quality score.

With a penchant for strong, identifiable themes and poignant symphonic arrangements, Gary has become an in demand composer for discerning producers of filmed entertainment.
